Department of Journalism & Mass Communication:

1. The synopsis submitted by Syed Aadil Hussain was approved by the BORS subject to inclusion of following suggestions made by Dr. Shahid Rasool, expert of the discipline who could not attend the meeting in person but submitted a detailed report covering all the aspects of the synopsis.
1. The researcher needs to properly identify some of the New Media Technologies and discuss how they have been used by various print media agencies particularly the English Newspapers in India and specifically in a Kashmir.

2. The topic must also be examined in the light of Media Convergence Theory. The theory provides, how technologies help in merging of various communication platforms into one single platform that guides collection, production, distribution, and consumption of media contents through various channels such as mobile phones, digital TV, Notepads and the Internet.
3. The sample size of the respondents for interviews need to be increased to at least 10 each category for better understanding of the issue.
4. The sample size of 20-25 for Case Study may be difficult to handle for in-depth study. The researcher may bring it down to 10-12 Newspapers. For reference point he may take 1-2 leading English Newspapers of the valley.
5. The researcher may also need to understand it from the perspective of newspaper readers, especially the new generation, the 'digital natives'. Therefore the researcher may consider conducting an empirical research with a sample of around 100-150 UG/PG students.
6. The literature review may also include "Old Media New Media" by Wilson P. Dizard Jr. This book provides insights into how old media survives or reinvents itself when the new media arrives. He must also go through the "World is Flat" and "Thank you for being Late" by Thomas Friedman.
7. The researcher may also add one full chapter on technological revolution and innovations sweeping the media landscape and the opportunities.

2. Dr. Rabia Noor and Monisa Qadri have been recognized as research supervisors subject to the fulfilment of eligibility criteria to be verified and submitted by the concerned HOD to the Office of the Dean Research.

3. Syllabus for PhD course is also approved with the addition of one more chapter entitled 'Media Research -need assessment, formative and summative research, audience research, TRPs etc. be included towards the end of the first unit.
