

Hand Sanitizers

Keeping in view the current outbreak of Covid19 and the lack of treatment or vaccination for the disease, the only solution which we can currently adopt is to take preventive measures. In this regard Department of Chemistry, Islamic university of science and Technology took an initiative to make sanitizers in the chemistry labs available in the department, keeping in view the shortage of quality sanitizers available in the market. The hand sanitizers were prepared as per the guidelines of World Health Organization (WHO). Fragrant and antimicrobial essential oils were added to these sanitizers in order to make them more effective and attractive. Afterwards the hand sanitizers were distributed among the teaching and non-teaching staff of Departments of Chemistry and Physics in order to maintain the high standards of hand sanitization which has been reported to be the key transmission mode of novel coronavirus.
