Expert Talk on “Writing an Effective Research Proposal for Major Grants and International Funding” at IUST

Awantipora, Sept. 26: The Department of Economics, Islamic University of Science and Technology (IUST), organized an expert talk on “Writing an Effective Research Proposal for Major Grants and International Funding.” The session was delivered by Vice Chancellor Prof. Shakil A. Romshoo, who shared his extensive experience in securing prestigious research grants.

Prof. Romshoo highlighted the need to align academic research with the vision of NEP-2020, national priorities, and pressing global challenges such as climate change and human health. He stressed that multidisciplinary collaborations, impactful research design, and effective proposal presentation are key to winning major funding opportunities. He also emphasized sustainability, the Sustainable Development Goals, and the transformative role of Artificial Intelligence in shaping future research directions. The event was attended by faculty members, research scholars, and students from across disciplines, and concluded with an engaging interaction with the Vice Chancellor.
