The discipline of Islamic Studies has multinational and multi- disciplinary canvass. The discipline in past many decades has evolved vastly with the result it is offered not only in all major Universities and Colleges of India but also in the regions of South Asia, Southeast Asia, Europe, and America. The discipline has immense scope for qualitative and quantitative research as such the subject is open to the graduates of all backgrounds. The multidisciplinary of the subject provides sufficient scope not only for academic utility but also caters to the societal needs. The subject in recent times has been frequently figuring in the recruitment bodies of Jammu and Kashmir and outside the state and country as well. As such, I confidently invite the aspirants whole heartedly to the field of Islamic Studies as it opens a vast world full of opportunities at personal, academic, societal and global level.
