

Women's Entrepreneurship Development Cell (WEDC) Conducts Session on Understand Copyright: Creative Ownership and Legal Awareness.

17-07-2025: The Women's Entrepreneurship Development Cell (WEDC) of CIED-IUST Foundation organized an interactive session on "Understanding Copyright: Creative Ownership and Legal Awareness" at Campus-III, IUST.

The session was held under the leadership of Prof. Parvez A. Mir, CEO, CIED-IUST Foundation. The expert speaker for the event was Dr. Asifa Baba, Dean of Students, IUST, who led a comprehensive and engaging discussion on the concept, importance and legal dimensions of copyright.

Dr. Baba elaborated on key elements of copyright law, highlighting the rights of creators, protection mechanisms and the significance of understanding intellectual property rights (IPR) in today's innovation-driven world. She also shed light on related legal provisions, including those concerning patents, trademarks and other forms of creative ownership.

Participants inquired about legal frameworks surrounding creative and intellectual works. The discussion also stressed on the importance of legal literacy among entrepreneurs and creators in safeguarding their original ideas and promoting innovation.

The session was well-received by attendees, who found it informative, practical and enriching. It concluded with a vote of thanks and a renewed emphasis on fostering legal awareness among emerging entrepreneurs and innovators.
